

speculate so largely on borrowed capital! It was undoubtedly with reference to those who traded on credit to such an immense extent, (and not such as made reasonable loans for carrying on their legitimate business), that Gen. Jackson uttered the declaration commonly blazoned forth by the whig press in chronicle of the failures during the present calamities. The opposition are welcome to all the benefits flowing from their miserable perversion of the plain intent of the language of the Old Soldier.—Rock. Dai Adv.

WHICH IS BEST?

We have before us two propositions for 'fixing things,' so as to get over all difficulties. The first is from the Gazette of Monday; the last from a 'city worthy' named Fydgat Fyngington. They are equally feasible and equally reasonable:

'An able writer, in the National Gazette, suggests, that if the government would resolve to place all 'FUTURE collections of revenue' in the Pennsylvania Bank of the United States, specie payments could soon be restored, and a uniform currency AGAIN established.'

Here is Mr. Fyngington's plan: 'I can fix it. Let every body mind their own business and support me, while I over-seem.'—Pittsburgh Mercury.

Franking.—What will the people think of Mr. Bell's candor in the sham advocacy of the 'freedom of elections' when they are informed that during the two last sessions of Congress, he has franked, and caused to be franked into Wilson County, through one post office alone, upwards of two thousand such documents as Wise's Peyton's, and Hardin's speeches in abuse of the late republican Administration. Storer's speech in praise of Gen. Harrison, was also sent to the same quarter during the session of 1835-6.—Nash. Hem.

The following communication was deposited in the Post Office in this place, directed 'Editors Aurora, Beaver, Pa.' 'ppr. Steamboat Fullston.' Should the facts as here stated prove true, the bank deserves to be—'Morganized!'

PITTSBURGH, May 20, 1837.

Dear Sir:—About six weeks ago, two Germans, on their road to the west to purchase land, deposited in one of our city banks $5000 in Gold and Silver for safe keeping until they would return, or order it on to St. Louis. The Bank took the money and gave a certificate of deposit. Yesterday the honest German Farmers returned, went to the bank and demanded their money, which the teller politely refused to give, alleging that the bank had the best right to the specie but counted down the amount in Notes.—The Germans looked astonished at the man; at length one of them collected sufficient fortitude to tell him that they wanted their own money and would not take his bank note. The officers of the bank had by this time collected at the counter and told them that if they would not take their paper to leave the office. The poor Germans went to an attorney and reported their case as a robbery by the Bank.—A suit will no doubt be instituted, but the poor Germans will be unable to get their money to comply with their contract for several months, at least, if ever. It appears the banks have all entered into a combination to rob the people of all deposits in money, and distress them by withholding money from them even to buy marketing.—This state of things cannot last two days longer.—The sovereign people will convince these petty tyrants that they are not yet their masters.

Yours, with respect.

From the New York Mirror.

How many of the thousands who have bent all their energies, for the last five years, upon the single object of accumulating wealth suddenly, might, in the mean time, have realized a comfortable landed property, and be living in the full enjoyment of health, and most of the other blessings of life; paying only, therefore, such a quantum of daily labor as nature requires to keep the physical and mental system in good order. Unfortunately, however, our people are not contented with any condition of life which presupposes the necessity of permanent or long continued labor, however light. A mere competence is never the goal of their exertions. They must realize a full independence: the full enjoyment of means so ample that no economy shall be necessary in using them; and the acquisition must be made, moreover, in the smallest possible time. To accomplish this object, the health of the body and the culture of the mind are alike neglected—the pleasant years of youth are passed in toil and anxiety; and age, if it indeed bring the long looked for golden reward, bears with it none of those bright reminiscences of the spring time of life, which are among the best things it bequeathes to the winter of existence.

The prevailing distress in all classes—to return to the point from which we started in this paragraph—will have a tendency to rectify much of this. People will, for a season at least, be content to realize smaller profits in all branches of business, and the soil, which has long been looked upon only in a speculative point of view, will now be called upon to yield those bounties which it ever has in store for the cultivator.

We have heard much complaint against the Treasurer of this state because he refuses to pay the surplus money to the several counties, in specie. Supposing him to be a Democrat, some have accused him of entering into a collusion with the pet-banks—to favor those institutions. We know not the truth of the matter, but one thing, we understand, is true, that the Treasurer is a modern whig—of course it is a whig measure, and instead of being a collusion with the pet-banks it is rumored that it is a collusion between the Treasurer and the Trust Company Bank. If so, we hope the truth will be brought to light.—Pains. Rep.

SURPLUS REVENUE.

The County Fund Commissioners for the County of Portage hereby give notice that they have determined to loan the Surplus Revenue as follows, viz: $17,000 to the State, and the balance of $18,889.16 to individuals and for the use of the County.

Applicants for loans to be resident citizens of the County.

All loans to draw interest at 7 per cent, payable semi-annually, in advance—Secured by mortgage on unincumbered real estate, with judgment bond.

All loans to be called in at the expiration of 18 months.

All applications for a loan to be made in writing and signed by the applicant.—Applicants for loans are requested to pursue the following form.

To the Fund Commissioners of Portage County—

"The undersigned, a resident of — township requests a loan of — Dollars, and offers as security, a mortgage on — acres of land, lying in Lot No. — in — township.

"Signed A. B."

At the bottom of the application should be the following certificate:

"We the undersigned, upon actual view of the above land do estimate the cash value of the same at — Dollars, exclusive of buildings.

"Given under our hands this — day of — 1837.

"Signed A. B. C. D."

The above certificate of appraisal to be signed by two disinterested persons, one of whom, at least, to be personally acquainted with one of the Commissioners.

An abstract of the title must also accompany the application. Applications for loans may be handed in to the Commissioners or their agents at Ravenna on the 14th & 15th days of June and answers will be given to applicants as soon as satisfactory examination of the records can be made.

As the amount to be loaned, at present, is but about $12,000, preference will be given to applications for loans of from $100 to $400, provided satisfactory security is offered.

And inasmuch as the commissioners have loaned a part of the surplus Revenue to the state with the understanding that it will be expended on the Pennsylvania and Ohio canal, they have determined that they cannot loan to the following canal townships: viz: Paris, Charlestown, Ravenna, Franklin, Stow, and the north part of Tallmadge.

Blank bonds and mortgages will be furnished by the agents at the expense of the applicants.

LOG OF THE ICE SHIP.—The Western Trader of Willoughby, John McHarr, master; Hugh Short, mate; and John Ramsdell, and Richard Soundick, hands; left this port for Detroit on the 13th of December last, and became fixed in the ice about 15 miles from Detroit river on the 17th of the same month. The schooner drifted about the Lake, embedded in the ice during the winter and spring, her adventurous and persevering captain and crew, braving every peril, and patiently enduring every privation; until a few days since they succeeded in safely reaching the harbor of Dunkirk. We copy from the Beacon, the following account of the dangers and difficulties surmounted by these hardy seamen:

We have been presented with the log kept on board, but which we find is without regularity, and extends but to a part of the time; so that it is scarcely worthy of publication. We may however state, that this adventure has been distinguished by several thrilling incidents and startling situations. We may instance, that being confident of ultimate success, the crew left the vessel near Conneaut, in order to procure provisions; which place they left with a back load each, having taken the precaution to procure a whip-saw, which proved of great advantage, as on nearing the vessel, they found from the change in the wind, a chasm of five rods in width; this obstacle was surmounted, by cutting off a large cake of ice upon which the whole party floated over in safety.

Subsequently, the mate alone was placed in a similar predicament, and had recourse to the same experiment, but without like success. A squall arising, created an open space of two miles, over which he had to pass on his slippery raft; the cutting wind blowing at the time, obliging him to bind his wrists and ankles with shreds of his clothes but notwithstanding which, he was severely frost-bitten, yet reached the schooner in safety.

The crew seem to have been indefatigable in their exertions, as about the middle of March, the pressure of the ice became so great as to lift the schooner two feet out of the water; they fixed a purchase at the mast head, and succeeded cutting and raising blocks of ice sufficient to let her freely into the water. A change in the wind afterwards increased the pressure, so that she laid nearly on her beam ends, with her bow clear out of water; however, the hardy bark, withstood every shock, and we believe is now, without a timber having been strained.

Few persons can form a conception of the desolate condition of these adventurers, at this period; bereft of human aid, their provisions totally exhausted, and their frames attenuated by previous exertion, would it have been matter of surprise, had they given way to despair? But no! it was otherwise ordered; a part of their cargo consisted of corn, which being ground in a coffee mill and though destitute of salt or any thing to render it savory, they made it into cakes, using oatmeal as fuel, and this alone, sustained existence for five long weeks.

For amusement during this dreary captivity, they had a few books, but with the true spirit of sailors, their chief consolation seemed to be derived from contrasting their situation with that of the crew of the Commerce cast away on the coast of Africa, Robins' description of which they had on board. The crew unanimously agree, that loss of food was not more severely felt, than the want of tobacco.

The crew with the exception of the mate, were in good health on reaching our harbor, and even he is now quite restored.

APPALLING STEAMBOAT DISASTER! UPWARDS OF ONE HUNDRED LIVES LOST.

The following frightful intelligence is from a slip under date of the 12th inst. forwarded by our attentive correspondents of the Mobile Mercantile Advertiser.

"The steamboat Ben Sherrard, running between New Orleans and Louisville, caught fire on Monday night last, when about fifty miles below Natchez, and near Fort Adams, on her way up the river, and in a short time was burnt up. One hundred and twenty, out of the one hundred and ninety lives on board, were lost! Mr. Smith of the firm of Newhouse & Co., of this city, was on board with his lady, two children, and servant. Mrs. Smith jumped overboard with one of the children, as we learn. Mr. S. immediately followed, and was so fortunate as to procure a plank, by means of which the lives of all three were preserved.—

They were in the water, however, about two hours, and drifted down the river a half dozen miles before they reached the shore. Mr. Smith, with his lady and the child they saved, arrived in this city, to tell the sad news, last evening.

The following additional intelligence is from a slip from the office of the New Orleans Commercial Herald of the 11th instant. A more frightful disaster never occurred on the American waters.

On the 8th inst. a fire broke out on board this steamboat, about 30 miles below Natchez, on her way to Louisville; it spread with such rapidity as to baffie every effort on the part of the passengers and crew to quench it.—In a few minutes after the fire was discovered, the whole boat was enveloped in flames.

Being in the stream and her wheel-ropes burnt off, it was impossible to run her ashore; and no alternative was left to the persons on board, but to jump in the water and attempt to save themselves by swimming, or floating on such articles as they could find, or to perish in the flames. In the confusion and alarm, many who could not swim sprang overboard, without taking the precaution to provide themselves with a plank or box, and were drowned; many more, it is feared, were burned to death. Few even of those now living would have survived, had not the steamer Columbus, Capt. Jones, come to their assistance. A number were picked up, but a greater number sunk before aid could reach them.—The steamer Statesman also picked up six or seven. But the Alton, it is said, passed while the Columbus was lying to; spoke the latter craft and passed on without stopping; on a par with this is the conduct of a man in a canoe, who happened to be upon the scene, and refused to pick up any but on a promise of remuneration!

So rapid was the spread of the fire, and so destitute were those on board of all means of escape, that nothing could be saved, not even the register of the boat, so that it is impossible to say how many were lost, or what were their names.—The passengers and crew amounted to over 160.

Bennet, of the N. Y. Herald, thus discourses on the proceedings of the Whigs, since their victory in New York.

We think it very probable that, in a few weeks, we will be ready to join the democrats. Our friends, the whigs by the middle of June, will have sufficiently damned themselves for all the uses of this world. Salt wont save them—nor 'salt-petre' either. More anon.

We congratulate the public on learning that Gov. Mason has succeeded in negotiating a loan to the State of $5,000,000, for the immediate advancement of the splendid and extensive internal improvements, authorized by our Legislature.—Monroe Times.

PROPOSALS FOR PUBLISHING AT RAVENNA.

PORTAGE COUNTY, OHIO,
A Semi-Monthly Agricultural Paper,
TO BE ENTITLED
The Western Agriculturist.
AND MECHANIC'S REGISTER.

THE Subscribers, believing that the Farming interest of the Western Reserve is sufficiently great to sustain an Agricultural Paper, propose publishing, at Ravenna, Portage County, a paper devoted exclusively to that subject.

The fact is now clearly demonstrated, that Agricultural Papers are of great advantage to the Farming interests of a country. In New-England and in New York, where the art of Agriculture is carried nearer to perfection than in any of the other States of the Union, there are several papers devoted to that subject which have a wide circulation.

Though the population of the Reserve consists chiefly of Farmers, yet there is not a paper designed entirely for their interests, while there are no less than twenty-eight political and religious papers.

The Association will be strictly neutral in politics and religion—it will contain a correct statement of the markets, and give that information most useful to the interest of farmers.

The great improvements which are now occupying the attention of the Farming Public—the many new inventions in the implements of husbandry which are continually appearing, render it highly necessary that all who are calculating to carry the business to a great extent should be possessed of the earliest information on the subject. Now, when the culture of Silk, and the growth of the Beet for the manufacture of Sugar is becoming the engrossing topic of the age, it is important that the Farmers of the Reserve should be made acquainted with all the information to be had on the subject, and we shall give our attention to the procuring and disseminating knowledge on these interesting objects.

The first number will be issued some time in April, if a sufficient number of subscribers shall be obtained to warrant it.
EDWIN R. SELBY,
Ravenna, Feb. 1, 1837.

TERMS.

This paper will be printed semi-monthly, on good type and fine paper, in a suitable form for binding, with a title page and index to each volume, at the close of the year, for one dollar per annum, in advance, (payable on delivery of the first number.)

Benjamin F. Hopkins }

vs. } In Chancery.
Daniel Collar,
George Collar &
Thomas Earl }

AT THIS Term of the Court came the Complaint, by his Solicitor, and filed his Bill setting forth that the said Daniel Collar on the 18th day of April 1836 sold to Complainant one and a half acres of land in Lot 26 in Franklin—being the same land decided to George Collar by the Administrator on the estate of Wm. H. Price. That although the said land stood in the name of George Collar, yet the said Daniel was the equitable owner, as he purchased it and paid for it—said George being a minor—that Complainant had paid for said land—that to vest the title in Complainant said Daniel filed his petition in this Court—that he obtained an order to sell the same—that he has sold it for upward of three hundred dollars, which money is now in the hands of Thomas Earl, agent for said Daniel—and that said Daniel and George have fled the country, without making title to Complainant and said bill prays that so much of said money now in the hands of said Thomas, as shall be sufficient for that purpose, be decreed to Complainant, and that said Thomas be enjoined from paying over said money to said Daniel & George till a final hearing of this cause—and it appearing that said George and Daniel are not residents of the State of Ohio, it is ordered that notice of the pendency of this suit be given by publication in the Western Courier, for six consecutive weeks.

NOTICE

IS THEREFORE HEREBY GIVEN to the said Daniel Collar and George Collar, that unless they be and appear in this Court at the next term thereof, to commence on the 8th day of May next, and within sixty days thereafter, plead, answer or demur to said bill, the same will be taken as confessed, and a decree rendered thereon accordingly.
